* * * A similar coin is figured and described in General Fox's "Unedited Coins of Europe," with a query for Rithymna or some other town of Crete. Sir C. Fellows, referring to the General's coin, says that the object in the corner of the reverse is a Lycian letter. This specimen shows another letter in the opposite corner.

size $8\frac{1}{2}$, wt. $259\frac{1}{2}$ grs. 1

* * * Mionnet, n. 65, describes this type, and follows it by three more, called respectively "autre semblable." But in his Supplement, vol. viii, p. 9, he corrects the mistake, saying, that the medallion with "Soter" is "fort rare," and that there was only one, not four, in the French Collection.

When the writer saw the Seleucidae in the British Museum, there was no specimen with "Soter." Nor has he seen any besides this and General Fox's.

As the First Antiochus was the only one who bore the name of "Soter," the coins of this type are important, as means for appropriating those bearing the ordinary legend.

ΠΤΟΛΕΜΑΙΟΥ., an Eagle standing on a thunderbolt, in field P., and monogram composed of ΠΑΡ., fine work and fine condition, size 7, wt. $219\frac{6}{10}$ grs., Another, with younger Portrait, possibly Ptolemy Second, no adjuncts, fairly preserved, size 6 2
